INSTITUTIONAL BROCHURE

ACADEMIC YEAR 2026-2027

Dear Students,

We warmly welcome you as a student at Wekerle International University, which aims to provide its students with high-quality, practice-oriented training and a supportive learning environment. The way to do this is to transfer modern knowledge using 21st-century methods, within the framework of a professionally functioning, yet user-friendly education system.

The focus of our training is on economic and IT knowledge that can be used effectively and immediately in business life. We strive to provide you with personalized support to start and build your career. The university's management, faculty, and employees do everything they can to create the conditions for the most comprehensive university experience possible, which means, in addition to knowledge based on up-to-date scientific results, an inspiring environment and community events.

This summary outlines the key information needed to start and continue your studies, especially regarding academic administration, the academic year schedule, student services, and student rights and obligations. Detailed rules are described in the University's regulations, particularly the Student Requirements System and the Training Programme.

2. General Characteristics of the Institution

Wekerle International University began its operation as a college in 2008. The institution offers higher-education vocational training, bachelor's, master's, and post-graduate training in full-time and correspondence courses, in Hungarian and, in some courses, in English and Chinese.

The university considers it its mission to create learning opportunities that promote the professional development of students with a strong theoretical foundation and a unit of practical training based on corporate relations. With its activities, it strives to earn the recognition and trust of the local society and the wider public.

The mission of the University is to contribute to the training of competitive professionals with its student-centered, innovative training, international relations, and practice-oriented education. At Wekerle, we promote cooperation between scientific fields, cultures, and communities. As a proud member of the HOPE Education Group network, we support our students in becoming responsible, forward-looking global citizens.
